ON THE RHODE ISLAND
PARTNERSHIP FOR LONG-TERM CARE

If you've waited until long-term care protection was more affordable, your time has come. Rhode Island now provides a solution for those who cannot afford private Long-Term Care Insurance but make too much money to qualify for Medicaid.

The Rhode Island Partnership, a joint effort of state government and private industry provides a new and affordable way to pay for needed long-term healthcare costs whether received at home, in an assisted living facility, or in a nursing home.

The Partnership makes it possible for Rhode Island residents to pay for this care without impoverishing themselves or having to turn over their life's savings. For complete information on the Rhode Island Partnership and how it can protect your assets from the devastating costs of long-term care, simply mail back this postage-paid card today, without cost or obligation.
